

At an Aquarium, Chapter 2

There are many, many fish. Fish can be little or big. Fish have gills and fins. See if you can see fins on the sides of the fish.

Fish like to swim up and down. They have gills. They have fins. But they do not look the same as other fish. They do not swim well. They can be very little or big. They are long and do not have legs. They like to hide. They eat things like fish and crabs. Some sharks are very little, but many are big. They have lots of teeth. When one comes out, one fills the gap.

They are flat. They hide in the sand and look for food. They eat things like shrimp, crabs, and clams. You can give them some food to eat. Put the food down so they can come get it.

They come and get the food. Here are some other fish. How many do you see? Five or six? Nine or ten? Do you see a white fish? Do you see fish that look the same?
